A Loyal Companion	3
Pets are a vital , or important part, of many households. Treated as family members, these animals bring enjoyment and companionship to their owners. This story is about a pet that played a crucial role in the U.S. military.	14 22 33 41
Since leaving high school, Jerome Lee knew he wanted to be a dog handler. His mother had always worked with search and rescue dogs with his local emergency management organization. As a marine, Jerome became part of the Military Police and Dog Training Academy. Lee was taught to handle dogs that would sniff for explosives, or bombs, in war zones.	53 63 71 83 94 101
Many people have lost their lives because of bombs planted by rebel forces. These bombs would blow where there were families, or when military forces were near. When the explosion occurred, many innocent people lost their lives. Lee would handle the dogs that would seek out these bombs. Once the dogs located the bombs, trained men and women would seal off the area so that no one was harmed. Then, special equipment was used to disarm the bomb.	112 121 131 141 153 166 177 179
Jerome Lee was assigned a very special partner: a German Shepherd named Lex. These two were sent to war. The two companions surveyed the countryside for bombs. Jerome and Lex were seriously determined to make the new nation a safer place for the citizens. Lee and Lex were inseparable, and were critical in locating and disarming many bombs. They worked very hard, and were the best team in the military.	189 200 209 221 232 242 249
